

ABSTRACT

A porous pouch completely encasing dry ice, in disposable or reusable form, can be handled with bare hands safely and used to keep frozen foodstuffs frozen, and also to enable serving of a frozen dessert such as Dippin' Dots ice cream, while minimizing the problem of said frozen dessert starting to melt immediately after being served, prior to consumption, without dangers of bare pieces of dry ice going into the mouth.